

From Manager to Deliberate Leader

Stop managing the problem.
Start developing the system.

Many managers are promoted because they solve problems, hit targets, and keep work moving. But as responsibility increases, leadership becomes less about solving the immediate issue and more about understanding the system that keeps producing it.

This workshop helps managers move beyond:

- Reactive problem-solving
- Task control and over-reliance on effort
- Short-term fixes that recreate the same issues

towards deliberate, systemic leadership.

They learn to:

- ✓ read complexity before acting
- ✓ make better decisions under pressure
- ✓ delegate without losing standards
- ✓ shape culture through clearer thinking

Ideal for:

- ✓ new and established managers
- ✓ middle leadership teams
- ✓ talent development programmes
- ✓ organisations preparing future leaders

Managers maintain performance.

Deliberate Leaders develop the thinking, people, and systems that make performance sustainable.

Dr Darren Stevens

Constructed Development Theory | Dynamic Intelligence | Leadership Complexity

Info@DarrenStevens.co.uk

www.DarrenStevens.co.uk